Magazine honors city's working women

BY STEPHANIE STEWART
SPECIAL TO THE DNJ

If you haven't picked up the current issue of Murfreesboro Magazine yet, it's worth your while, since this edition focuses on women in the city's business community.

In addition to profiling the women, the magazine will celebrate the contributions these dedicated individuals make to Murfreesboro at its annual Women in Business Luncheon, set for Feb. 24 at Oaklands Historic House:

Among the honorees is Lynne DeLuca of Mind's Eye Presentations. DeLuca created Mind's Eye in 1997, shortly after she and her family moved to the area, and she's grown the business into one of Rutherford's most recognized website development companies over the past decade.

FYI

For more information on Murfreesboro Magazine's annual Women in Business Luncheon or tickets, log onto murfreesboromag.com or call 259-3636, ext. 24.

Julie Clapp of Julia's HomeStyle Bakery also makes the list. She sets an extraordinary example as someone who took a concept from a family business (her mother owns the original successful HomeStyle Bakery in Davidson County) and made the idea her own, creating the hottest spot for cupcakes and sweet treats in Murfreesboro.

For these complete profiles and many more, pick up Murfreesboro Magazine, then plan to attend the luncheon with featured speaker Dr. Elizabeth LaRoche.
